HARRIS'S WEEKLY gives no uncertain sound on the presidential question. It is the first time in its history it has supported a Democratic candidate for that office. Its editorials will read a little strange to Democrats and Republicans alike. Read the following, its leading editorial:

The nomination of Grover Cleveland defines sharply the actual issue of the presidential election of this year. He is a man whose absolute official integrity has never been questioned, who has no labored and doubtful explanations to undertake, and who is universally known as the governor of New York elected by an unprecedented majority which was not partisan, and represented both the votes and the consent of the entirety body of the state.

His nomination is the most significant of the present situation of the country. It is the first time in its history that a Democratic candidate has been nominated by an overwhelming majority.

The republicans have been trying to make capital out of Gov. Cleveland's votes. They claim that the whole Catholic church will be against him on account of one of them. In this they pay a very doubtful compliment to that church, and the liberality of its members. The particular vote referred to was of an appropriation for a charitable institution known as the Westchester Catholic Protectory. The governor struck it out on the ground that it was appropriating public money for a private and sectarian institution. His reasoning would apply with equal force to a Presbyterian, a Methodist or a Baptist institution. E. L. Hoguet, president of the Protectory says on this question: "We never doubted the sincerity of the motive which induced Gov. Cleveland to withhold his signature to the appropriation to the Protectory. We thought then and we think now that he was not actuated by any feeling of bigotry or of hostility to Catholics or the Catholic institutions. On the contrary Gov.

Cleveland is liberal in the extreme, and we are of the firm belief that he was led to withholding his approval of the appropriation solely by a sense of public duty as he viewed it.

The St. Louis Western Watchman, edited by Father Phelan, undoubtedly Catholic authority says of this veto:

Gov. Cleveland had a very good reason for vetoing the bill. To have signed it would have been to violate his official oath. That other governors had signed former appropriations to the protectory would be an argument, if the maxim that "all do it" were given in a place in the Christian code of morality. We have a very clear and satisfactory answer to this charge. The law on the subject of appropriations is the same in Missouri and New York, our law being borrowed from the one in the Empire state. We all know that our insane asylum is not a sectarian institution, being supported out of the revenues of the city. We all are acquainted with Gov. Phelps. He is no bigot.

Yet Gov. Phelps vetoed a bill appropriating the money of the state to the support of our insane asylum, giving as a reason that the constitution forbade such use of the moneys of the state. If our insane asylum is not a public institution in the language of our constitution, the Westchester protectory can not be so classified. If Phelps did right—and he did—Cleveland did right too. If there were no law against appropriating the money of the state of New York to the support of the Catholic protectory, we think it would be wise in any governor to veto any such measure. The Catholic church does not want the money of the state for the prosecution of any work of hers.

The Dramatic Entertainment.
A large audience greeted Miss Kate Ricketts at the Universalist church last night and listened attentively to her humorous and dramatic readings. Miss Ricketts possesses rare dramatic talent, an intellect keenly alive to every shade of meaning an author puts in his words, and the ability to represent these fully by tone and expression to her hearers. She gave renditions of Macaulay's "Fate of Virginia," "Her Letter," by Bret Harte; Carleton's "New Church Doctrine," a scene from Selby's "Marble Heart," "Woman's Rights" and the Letter Scene from "Macbeth." In "Marble Heart" and "Macbeth," Miss Ricketts exhibits her best powers, and her features, beautiful, symmetrical and dignified, together with her tastes, clearly point to the legitimate Shakespearean drama as her future. The little town of Windsor may well be proud of her.

Haffey is under bonds in the sum of $1,500 for his appearance. Murphy is still laid up, and it is said to be in a very weak condition, although he will probably be able to appear on the day set for the trial. The charge against Haffey is assault with intent to kill.

Funeral Notice.
The funeral of the late Frederick Schneider will take place from the family residence, on East North-st., at 10 o'clock on Sunday morning. Friends of the family are invited to attend.

The Blaine and Logan club held a meeting last evening at the court house, which was attended by about seventy five persons. A good portion of whom were at variance and with the news and principles of the club, but who attended for the sake of seeing what business would be transacted. The meeting was called to order by J. L. Moseley, president of the club. Constitution and by-laws were adopted.
An executive committee consisting of Messrs. L. L. Haworth, J. K. Warren, James Milligan and D. C. Shockley, was appointed. The committee will also have charge of the club finances and upon them will devolve the duty of securing speakers, arranging for meeting and attending to such other business as may properly come before them.
The vacant store room in the Mar's block, just north of the city hall, was selected as the permanent headquarters of the club.
The style, quality and prices of uniforms was discussed, but no decision was arrived at.
After the club adjourned to meet again next Friday night, some time was spent in examining samples of uniforms. A half dozen persons signed the club roll.

Canada Thistles.
Secretary Fisher, of the State Board of Agriculture, has received a genuine Canada thistle from Peoria, which was found in the packing of fruit jars. The person who sent it to Secretary Fisher complains that he fears the pest will be distributed all over the state. Only a few days ago the Review made mention of Canada thistles being found growing along fences and sidewalks, right in the heart of this city, and called the people's attention to the fact. Officials have power to appoint thistle commissioners, whose duties are thus prescribed by the statutes of the state: "The commissioner of Canada thistles shall diligently inquire concerning the introduction and existence of Canada thistles in the township or precinct and if any are found growing therein he shall take charge of all such growing in the highway and on unimproved lands and take care that they do not go to seed or otherwise spread; and he shall carefully seek and learn so far as practicable the best method for their destruction, and he shall persistently apply in proper time such remedy or treatment as he shall deem best calculated to prevent their spread and to eradicate the same."

LIEUTENANT GREELY SAYS.

WASHINGTON, July 18.—The following telegram was received at the Navy Department yesterday morning:

St. Johns, N. F., July 17.—Hon.

William E. Chandler, Secretary of the Navy, Washington: The Thetis, Bear and

Lock Gary arrived here today from West Greenland, all well. They were separated from the Alert 150 miles north, during a gale, at 9 p. m. June 22, five miles from Cape Sabine, in Smith's Sound. The Thetis and Bear rescued alive Lieutenant A. W. Greely, Sergeant

Brainerd, Sergeant Fredericks, Sergeant

Loag, Hospital Steward Belderbach, Private

Connell and Sergeant Ellison, the only survivors of the Lady Franklin Bay Expedition.

Sergeant Ellison had lost both hands and feet by frost-bite, and died July 6, at Godhavn, three days after amputation, which had become imperative on account of the twenty-five persons comprising the expedition perished by starvation at the point where found. One was drowned while sailing to procure food. Twelve bodies of the dead were rescued, and are now on board the Thetis and Bear. One, the Eskimo Turtovik, was buried at Disco, in accordance with the desire of the Inspector of Western Greenland. Five bodies, buried in the ice near the camp, were swept up by the winds and currents before any arrival, and could not be recovered.

The names of the dead recovered, with date of death, are as follows: Sergeant

Cross, January 1, 1884; Wederick, Equinox,

April 5; Sergeant Linn, April 6;

Lieutenant Lockwood, April 8; Sergeant

Jewell, April 13; Private Ellis, May 19;

Sergeant Kallstrom, May 23; Private Henry,

June 6; and Private Schneider, June 18. The names of the dead and buried in the ice with the date of death of those whose bodies have not been recovered are as follows: Sergeant Ellis, April 9, 1884;

Corporal Sator, June 3; Private Nelson,

June 6; Assistant Surgeon Foy, June 6; Sergeant Gardner, June 12. Drowned by leaving through icebergs, and lost while sailing, Jens Edwards, Esquimaux, April 24.

I would suggest that the bodies now on board be placed in metallic cases here for safe and better transportation in a sea way. This appears to me imperative.

Lieutenant Greely abandoned Fort

Conrad, August 6, 1883, and reached Barrow September 20 following, with the entire party well. He abandoned all his boats and was left thirty days on an ice floe in Smith's Sound. His permanent camp was established October 21, 1883, at the point where he was found. During the month his party had to live upon a scant allowance of food brought from Fort Conger and that carried at Fayer Harbor and Cape

Isabella, by Sir George Nares, in 1877.

When the provisions were consumed the party was forced to live upon boiled seal, strips from the seal skin and lichens and shrimps caught in good weather when they were strong enough to make exertions. As it took 1,300
